

An interpreter for every occasion

All our interpreters are professionals who are registered with the main Italian trade associations (Assointerpreti, AIC, AITI). The team has what it takes to meet all of your interpreting requirements:

- simultaneous
- consecutive
- chuchotage (whispered)
- business negotiations.

Simultaneous interpreting (in which the interpreter translates a spoken text as it is being delivered) is suitable for conferences large and small, and can be provided either with traditional systems (booths) or with wireless systems (radio frequency or bidule), whereby the translation is delivered to the intended user's headphones.

Consecutive interpreting (in which the interpreter translates a spoken text in short sections at a time) is suitable for business meetings, press conferences and other small-scale assemblies. No special systems are required.

Chuchotage/whispered interpreting (in which the interpreter translates simultaneously, whispering the translation into the ear of the intended user) is suitable when there is only a single individual who requires the interpreting service.

Business/negotiation interpreting is used for business meetings and negotiations and is delivered consecutively.
